We, as a school community, understand that:

Our whole school community will be committing to building resilience through relationships.

Implementing a strengths-based philosophy supports a culture of resilience within our school community.

Intentionally providing opportunities for our students, families, and whole school will help to develop skills, tools, and strategies (build competencies) that promote lifelong learning in the school, home, and community.

S4 is a 'way' of teaching and learning that connects to school initiatives and fosters a culture and climate that promotes resilience in children and their families which keep our community safe.

What is your vision for S4 in your school community?
